

Which 2010 Summer Out in Alaska trips are best for me?

Consult our Trip Selector Chart

OUT IN ALASKA

	Trip 4 Spring Wildlife Tour	Trip 5 Arctic Refuge Midnight Sun Backpack	Trip 7 Copper River Raft Trip	Trip 8 Guides Choice Adventure	Trip 10 Denali Multi-Sport Adventure	Trip 11 Yukon Raft Trip	Trip 12 Alaska Adventure Tour	Trip 14 Fall Aurora Tour
--	---------------------------------------	--	--	---	---	-----------------------------------	---	------------------------------------

Short description of Trip (Survey trip or regional focus, etc.)	Sightseeing survey tour of Alaskan highlights	Focused wilderness adventure	Focused wilderness adventure	Off the beaten path survey trip of Alaskan adventures	Survey adventure trip of Alaskan highlights	Focused wilderness adventure	Active survey tour	Sightseeing survey tour of Alaskan highlights
Comfortable "Tours" (no camping, limited or optional hiking, etc.)	X						Hotel-based active adventure tour	X
Camping "Adventures" (some hotel nights also)		X	X	Half hotels, half 'car camping'	X	X
 Activity level	Low to Moderate	Strenous	Moderate	Moderate	Strenous	Moderate	Moderate	Low to Moderate
Physical activities (some optional - there may be additional activity options)	Sightseeing, walking and short optional hikes	Wilderness Backpacking	Wilderness Rafting with some hiking	Hiking, rafting, and sea kayaking	Sea kayaking, backpacking, day hiking, and rafting	Wilderness Rafting with some hiking	Sea kayaking, hiking, glacier trekking, and rafting	Sightseeing, walking, and short optional hikes
Best for Wildlife (moose are possible on every trip)	X	Dall sheep likely	X				X	X
Most remote, fewest people		X	X		X	X
Possibility of seeing the Northern Lights (Aurora Borealis) sky must be dark!								X

 Activity level is somewhat flexible for each trip due to our small group size and flexible itineraries (i.e., you can generally do more or less if you like). "Low" means that very little physical activity is required, but more activity is possible. "Moderate" activity trips should be doable for most folks in good shape, but may feel strenuous if you are out of shape. "Strenuous" trips require that you are in very good physical shape and train prior to your adventure.